

Learn to play Indian violin music

Come and re-think your playing style.
Create a fusion piece. All string players welcome

Saturday 26 October 2019, 11:00-17:00
with Pandit Pallab Bandyopadhyay
King's Ely Junior School, Militia Way, Ely, CB7 4JE

What will you experience?

- Difference in technique between western and eastern string playing
- What a raga is, and how to compose around one
- How to create a fusion piece using Indian and western influences using tunes you know
- Listening to an international expert play music to you and with you

Who should come?

- String players all instruments - year 6 to adult
- GCSE students
- Composers with an interest in Indian styles
- Tutors who would like to use these styles in their work

Cost per participant: £10

Pandit Pallab Bandyopadhyay is a teacher, composer, conference presenter and a champion of underprivileged children and communities. Pt Pallab and his pupils have performed in many countries spreading his style of playing - the Jog gharana style of violin playing. He collaborates with local musicians wherever he goes to create an ensemble of eastern and western fusion.